DEFENDS HIS WIFE

The Secretary of State Makes a Statement.

ABOUT HIS SON'S MARRIAGE.

Pather Ducey Blamed By Mr. Blaine for Performing the Coremony.

He Says That His Wife Has Reen Unjustly Criticized, and That He Could Remain Silent No Longer-Had a Horror of Public Discussion of the Matter-Wh. $ Father Ducey Says.

WASBINGTON, Feb. 29. - Secretary Blaine has furnished a long statement relating to the marriage of his son, James G., jr. to Marie Nevens, and their divorce. says that he and his family have borne quietly every publication inspired by the young woman, but the last outrage of the kind, embodied in the decision of a judge at Deadwood, Dak., says Mr. Blaine, assumes a character which makes impossible to remain longer silent. Mr Blaine makes the following state-

Since the separation of my son and "Since the separation of my son and his wife three and a half years ago, my family have borne every misrepresenta-tion, every slanderous attack, every newspaper interview; which it has pleased the now divorced wife to inspire. The one person aimed at has been Mrs. Blaine, and we have, perhaps, been at fault in allowing a horror of the public discussion of private matters, combined with a regard for the future of my grandson, to permit so much calumny to unanswered.

"A letter which I addressed to the fee. Thomas I. Ducey at the time of the marriage will distinctly state the important facts bearing upon that event.

"Augusta, Me., Sept. 13, 1886.

"Ray Thomas I. Ducky—Sir On Wednesday morning last my youngest son, James G. Blaine, jr., shocked me by the apnouncement that on the preceding Monday he had been united in marriage with Miss Marie Nevins; that you had with Miss Marie Nevins, that you had performed the ceremony in your own rectory; that my son and Miss Nevins were unaccompanied by friend or relative, and that two of your household servants were the sole witnesses. My son's announcement gave the first knowledge that for any member of my family had of his marriage, or even of his attachment to Miss Nevins, whose character, I wish to say at the outset, in not at all in question, and of whom, but for all in question, and of whom, but for this rash marriage, I have never heard a oreath of censure.

"My son was born October 12, 1868, and is not therefore, 18 years old. He and is not therefore, 18 years old. He was living here in his own home, in the house in which he was born, surrounded by neighbors who had known him all his life, under the daily care of a tutor who was fitting him for college, which he hoped to enter this autumu. To facilitate his preparations he desired to remain here during the summer, while the other members of the family were much of the time at Ear Harbor. As I have since learned, Miss Nevins, in company with her sister and her father, came to Augusta on Monday, August 16.

"On Friday, September 3, eighteen days after her arrival in Augusta, my son, who had never seen her nor heard son, who had never seen her nor heard her name until she came here, left his home without permission, and without the knowledge of any member of his family, and accompanied Miss Nevins, and his sister to their mother in New York. On Saturday, the 4th, the young persons presented themselves to you for

"Through my oldest son, Walker Blaine, who went to New York as soon as I heard these unhappy tidings, I learn that James misrepresented his age to you, stating that he was within a month marriage. or two of 21. But he did not (according to your own narrative to my son Walker) conceal from you the vital fact that he was a minor; he did not conceal from you, but openly avowed, that I had no knowledge whatever of his intention to be married, and that his special design was to keep all knowledge of it from me. "in this concealment be sought your sid and abetment, and you held his secret under consideration from Saturday antil Monday, agreeing with my son not to advise any member of my family of his rash purpose. You "ook him to the Archbishop in order that a dispensation might be secured to enable Miss Nevius, who was reared a Catholic, to marry my son, who was born, baptized and reared a Protestant. You knew that during the long interval in which you were making these preparation I was within a moment's reach by telegraph, and yet you never gave the slightest in-

"In defence of this conduct you alleged to my son Walker the confidence reposed in you as a priest by my son. The confidence of the contessional is always respected, but by your use of confidences reposed in you side the confessional, even by those not of the Catholic communion, you per-become an accomplice before the act of any crime or any improdence to which you may listen. It is not for me to adrise a minister of your intelligence that position is absolutely untenable would be dangerous to society, and would not be respected by any court of your action that if you had not performed the ceremony some one else outside your communion would have done it. This is a common defence of evil doing, and is inworthy of a priest and a man. "A week ago my boy was under my protection-the most helpless, the least responsible member of my family; erratic, but controlable through his strong affections; an object of constant watch affections; an object of constant water-fulness to his parents, his brothers and his sisters; a source of constant auxiety but not of despair, because he is of good abilities, as readily influenced to the right as to the wrong, and because the patience of love can never know weariness. To-day, through your agency, this boy in years, in experience, in judgment, in practical capacity, leaves my nome and my care, burdened with the full responsibilities of a man, with the welfare of a woman in his keeping.

"I am powerless. I cannot question the legality of the marriage. I shall at a distance and at every disadvantage en-deavor to guide my son, but as a father living under the divine institution of the yine order of society, I protest against your set. As a servant of Gos, to whose ministry you are ordained, a call Gost to witness between you and me. Of whatever evils resulting from this de plorable marriage my son may the author or the vistim the guitty be on your head. "James G. Blarse."

"When I wrote this letter I believed that Miss Nevins had no other responsi bility in the marriage than in consenting to my son's appeal, and was blameworthy for this alone. Since then I am prepared for this alone. Since then I am prepare to say that the marriage was arranged by her far more than by my sol, that she did everything to promote it; suggested every arrangement; anticipates and pravided for every emergency, and that in fact but for her personal, active and untiring money, the mair age would never have there in the life she have there. never have taken place, in this she showed knowledge and forethought not to be expected in a woman of 21 years."

Rev. Father Ducey said last night: " would be pleased had Mr. Blaine published my answer to him. When I married his son the latter said he was o legal age, and the records show he said Why should I have telegraphed Mr ne? It was none of my business married his son regularly under the laws of the State of New York."

IN THE SUPREME COURT.

Many Decisions Arn to Be Rendered This Week.

Washington, Feb. 29.—The Supreme Court of the United States will meet today, after its February recess of four weeks, and a large number of decisions are expected to be rendered.

The Behring Sea case, involving the controversy between this country and Great Britain, was argued several months ago, but many members of the Supreme Court bar believe that the court will not render a decision on it because of the ne gotiations looking to arbitration now gong on.

The cases involving the constitutionality of the McKinley tariff act were also submitted to the court for decision.

Another interesting case in which a decision may be handed down is the Logan case from Texas, involving the lla-bility of the Government to protect from violence prisoners in charge of its officers. The principal interest attaching to this case, however, is through its romantic which would make A groundwork for a sensational novel.

Died from Enting Poisonous Roots

Priranumo, Feb. 29 -A sad case of poisoning is reported from Rochester, Pa., 25 miles west of this city. BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Feb. 29.-The police officials here believe that the condemned murderer Harriots, of Freehold, N. J., is the man who has been wanted for the murder of Captain Seely, a year ago.

The captain was found hanging in his barn, in the town of Stepney, one morn part, in the town of Hepney, one morning, and the coroner's jury pronounced it a case of swicide. The Seeley family, however, did not think so, and employed a detective to investigate the affair. He collected sufficient evidence to make a strong case against a farm hand named John Hahn, employed in the neighborhood. The avidance was placed before from the evidence was placed before the coroner's jury, and Hann was held for the murder of Captain Seeley. A warrant was issued for his arrest, but it could not be served as the suspected murderer had disappeared.

The descriptions of Harshott which

The descriptions of Harriott which have reached here tally with that of the missing Hahn. The circumstances at-tending the murder for which Harriott was sentenced at Freehold are identical with those under which Captain Seeley
